1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1 through 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1 lines 7-8 and claim 13 lines 12-13, it is not understood how the "first paper aligning member" is slid back and forth since no means for sliding this member has been clearly and positively recited.

In claim 1 lines 16-17 and claim 13 lines 21-22, it is not understood how the "third paper aligning member" is slid back and forth since no means for sliding this member has been clearly and positively recited.

Claim 4 is confusing in that it is not understood how a single member (i.e. the third paper aligning member) can comprise a pair of members as claimed.

In claim 4 line 4, the recitation "the perpendicular direction" lacks proper antecedent basis, therefore; it is not clearly understood to what direction this is referring. It appears this recitation is intended to refer to the previously recited width direction and has been treated as such.

In claim 6, it is not understood how the recited aligning members are slid once back and forth as claimed since no means for sliding these elements has been clearly and positively recited.

In claim 7 lines 2-4, it is not understood how the paper exhausting roller delivers the paper in the paper proceeding direction and apparently in the perpendicular direction simultaneously.

In claim 8 line 3, it is not clearly understood what is meant by the recitation "a first standby position apart by a predetermined distance." From what is the recited standby position "apart?"

Further, it is not understood how the "first paper aligning member" is slid back and forth as recited in claim 8 since no means for sliding this member has been clearly and positively recited.

In claim 10 line 3, it is not clearly understood what is meant by the recitation "a second standby position apart by a predetermined distance." From what is the recited standby position "apart?"

Further, it is not understood how the "third paper aligning member" is slid back and forth as recited in claim 10 since no means for sliding this member has been clearly and positively recited.

Claim 12 is confusing in that the claim appears to require the image forming apparatus be a part of the paper treating unit (line 1 of claim 12) while at the same time reciting the image forming apparatus is a separate unit located adjacent to the paper treating unit (lines 4-5 of claim 12).

3. Claims 1 through 13 appear they would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

4. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the abstract is in the format of a claim and does not provide a narrative description of the technical features of the invention. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).
5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hart, Gottlieb, Droitcour, Volkmere, Obenshain '070, Obenshain '751, Naramore, Pessina et al, Mohr, Schmid et al and Shiraishi et al are cited to show various arrangements of aligning members for a sheet stack.
